Baltimore Lock Hospital.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Physician of this celebrated Institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effectual Remedy in the World for all

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE,

Weakness of the Back, or Limbs, Strictures, Affections of the Kidneys, or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight, or Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—SECRET and solitary practices, more fatal to their victims, than the songs of the Syrens to the Mariners of Ulysses, blighting their most brilliant hopes, or anticipations, rendering marriage, &c., impossible.

YOUNG MEN

especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, that dreadful and destructive habit which annually sweeps to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entranced listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or waked to ecstacy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.

Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency,) Nervous Excitability, Palpitation, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other disqualification, speedily relieved.

He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidentially rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS,
IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF POWER,
Immediately Cured, and Full Vigor Restored.

This distressing affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences.—Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny, that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits, than by the prudent? Beside being deprived of the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.

A CURE WARRANTED IN TWO DAYS.
Relief in Six Hours! No Mercury!
Persons Ruined by Ignorant, Trifling Pretenders, and their Deadly Poisons, should apply immediately.

DR. JOHNSTON,

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London. Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the Hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known; many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgences and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or marriage.

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearful effects of the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption.

who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage, the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed to despair, and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another is blighted with our own.

DISEASE OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commiseration till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to that undiscovered country, "from whence no traveler returns."

It is a melancholy fact, that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of Ignorant or Unskillful PRETENDERS, who by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incapable of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer month after month taking their noxious or injurious compounds, and instead of being restored to a renewal of Life, Vigor and happiness, in despair leave him with ruined Health, to sign over his galling disappointment.

To such, therefore, Dr JOHNSTON pledges himself to preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and from his extensive practice and observations in the great Hospitals of Europe, and the first in this country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia and elsewhere, is enabled to offer the most Speedy, Certain and Effectual Remedy in the World for all diseases of Imprudence.

ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.

The many thousands cured at this establishment, year after year, and the numerous Surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston witnessed by the representatives of the press and many other persons, notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and responsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the afflicted.

OVER THE RIVER.

Over the river they beckon to me,
Loved ones who've passed to the other side;
The gleam of their snowy robes I see,
But their voices are lost in the dashing tide.
There's one with ringlets of sunny gold,
And eyes the reflection of Heaven's own blue;
He crossed in the twilight gray and cold,
And the pale mist hid him from mortal view.
We saw not the angels who met him there,
The gates of the city we could not see,
Over the river, over the river,
My brother stands waiting to welcome me.

Over the river the boatman pale
Carried another—the household pet,
Her bright curls waved in the gentle gale—
Darling Minnie, I see her yet!
She crossed on her bosom her dimpled hands,
And fearlessly entered the phantom bark;
We watched it glide from the silver sands,
And all our sunshine grew strangely dark—
We know she is safe on the other side,
Where all the ransomed and angels be;
Over the river, the mystic river,
My childhood's idol is waiting for me.

For none return from those quiet shores
Who cross with the boatman cold and pale;
We hear the dip of the golden oars,
We catch the gleam of the snowy sail,
And lo! they have passed away from our heart—
They cross the stream and are gone for aye!
We cannot sunder the veil apart
That hides from our vision the gates of day;
We only know that their barks no more
Shall sail with ours on life's stormy sea;
Yet somehow I hope on the unseen shore
They watch and beckon and wait for me.

And I sit and think, when the sunset's gold
Is flushing river and hill and shore,
I shall one day stand by the water cold
And list for the sound of the boatman's oar;
I shall watch for the gleam of the flapping sail,
I shall hear the boat as it gains the strand,
I shall pass from sight with the boatman pale
To the better shore of the spirit land!
I shall know the loved who have gone before,
And joyfully sweet will the meeting be,
When over the river, the peaceful river,
The Angel of Death shall carry me!

A MEMORIAL AGAINST THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

To the Governor, Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania,

This memorial of the representative committee of the yearly meeting of the religious Society of Friends, held in Philadelphia, for Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and part of Maryland, respectfully represents:

That the evils arising from the sale and use of intoxicating liquors, as a drink, having claimed our serious consideration, we have felt it to be our duty to endeavor briefly to call your attention to the subject in all its bearing. The practice is utterly void of advantage to the individual or the State. We believe it to be the most fruitful known source of crime, entailing misery and wretchedness, both physical and mental, upon its immediate victims and their posterity; that it supplies more inmates to insane asylums, prisons and almshouses than any other cause; that the cost to the community in money, in addition to the moral depravity it engenders, in the occupancy of courts of justice in prosecutions for crimes committed under its influence, and the increase of taxes for the support of almshouses, necessitated by the poverty it produces, far exceeds the income derived to the State from the sale of licenses. Were it otherwise, has the State a moral right to license this fruitful source of crime for the purpose of revenue? The places where liquor is sold are legion. The foul taint thereof is upon the breath of youth and age, in most places of public resort. We believe the increasing magnitude of this evil to be so great that it is second to none that can claim your attention. We respectfully, but most earnestly, appeal to you, as the Representatives of a professed Christian community, whose duty it is to enact wholesome laws for the promotion and production of virtue, as the surest guarantee for the public good, that you may solemnly consider the subject, and, by the exercise of the power delegated to you, do what you can to arrest and diminish this flood of iniquity.

We have laws for the protection of property and life, whilst we sanction by license means that may prove destructive to body and soul.

We therefore request you to abolish all laws granting licenses in this State for the sale of intoxicating liquors as a drink, and substitute laws entirely prohibiting such sale. Whilst we thus desire that the poisonous streams now surrounding the paths of the youth, bring them to destruction, shall forever cease, we shall hail with joy any modification of our laws approximating to so desirable an end.

WE have rarely seen anything in the way of high-pressure, spread-eagle oratory superior to the following passage from a speech of Mr. Cunningham, member of the Indiana Legislature, from Fountain county. The subject under debate was a motion to indefinitely postpone a gravel road bill: "The American people, and we are proud to call ourselves that, are rocked in the bosoms of two mighty oceans, whose granite-bound shores are whitened by the floating canvas of the commercial world, reaching from the ice-fettered lakes of the north to the febrile waves of the Australian seas, comprising a vast interim of five billions of acres, whose alluvial plains, romantic mountains and mystic rivers, rival the wildest Utopian dreams that ever gathered around the inspired bard as he walked the amaranthine promenades of Hesperian gardens. Is proud Columbia, the land of the free and home of the brave, too free and independent to indorse such a nuisance as this? Freedom from such oppression as this is the munificent heritage bequeathed the valorous sons of the immortal Washington. I represent a free and intelligent people, proud to know that they live in a country indented by innumerable bays and gulfs, whose restless tide is ever kissed back by the pebbly beach, interspersed by limpid rivers and lakes, the means by which commerce and civilization have been prompted to their present exalted status. America has been, and ever will be the most alluring and delightful retreat known to the migratory world, if we are not overrun with these unjust and oppressive corporations, which are ever robbing the honest yeomanry of our country. Will this do the gentleman? Is he now satisfied?" Pity 'tis this beauteous burst should have reference to nothing else than gravel roads!

A GENTLEMAN whose nose became distinctly colored with the red wine he was wont to imbibe, said one day to his little son at the table: "You must eat bread, my son; bread makes your cheeks red." The little boy replied: "Father, what lots of bread you must have snuffed up!"

A GENTLEMAN travelling on a steamer one day, at dinner was making away with a large pudding close by, when he was told by the servant that it was desert. "I would eat it if it were a wilderness."

ARRAIGNED FOR FORGERY.

A THRILLING COURT SCENE.

There lived in the city of P——, a gentleman on the shady side of sixty, who, by industry and economy, had amassed a large competence, sustaining in all the work of life a character above suspicion. He was the head of a fine family, and noted for his eccentricities and his peculiar style of dress. He was stoop-shouldered, limped a little, and for ten years previous to the time of the scene about to be narrated wore a coat that had turned red with age.

It was in the middle of the afternoon of a cloudy, dismal day in March, 18—, when an old man entered one of the banks of the city named, and presented a check for payment. The cashier took it and paid over to the man $10,000, and he descended the steps into the street.

In less than five minutes after he had left, the check was discovered to be a forgery. The proper authorities were immediately notified by the cashier who gave then a description and, presenting him to the cashier, asked if that was the man.

"That is the man; I cannot be mistaken," he replied. He eyed him a little closer (being near sighted) and throwing up his hand, he exclaimed, "Mr. Rawlins, (the gentleman alluded to in the opening of the narrative,) can it be possible that you have committed this forgery?"

The old man protested his innocence, but to no avail; for he was led away to prison, to await the sitting of the court.

His friends wished to go his bail, but he obstinately refused to accept a release, and lay in jail three months.

The day of trial came, and although defended by the very best of legal talent, the evidence against him was conclusive, and he was convicted.

It was sentence day. The court room was filled with spectators, and the friends and relatives of the prisoner. It was a sorrowful scene, and among the participants was the wife and two lovely daughters of Mr. Rawlins, their beautiful faces swollen with weeping over the sad fate of their father. One by one the prisoners descended from the box and received their sentences.

Rawlins was next in turn. There was an awful silence for some moments when the Judge, in a choking, trembling voice, for he was an intimate friend of the condemned, said:

"Mr. Rawlins!"

He arose and took his stand before the Judge.

The Judge proceeded: "Have you any cause to shew why the sentence of the law should not be passed against you?"

Here a terrible silence ensued, almost paralyzing the hearts of many anxious friends; when, all at once a prisoner in the box—a young man—arose and said "I have!"

"Your reason," said the Judge.

"Because he is not guilty, I will explain."

What a mountain's weight of sorrow was lifted from the hearts of some by the pronunciation of these words not guilty.

"Proceed! proceed!" cried the judge.

"I will. If you will send some reliable man—an officer or two—with me to a certain point on the main highway leading out of city, under a flat stone of peculiar shape you will find $5,000 of the money; the balance, I have lost at faro."

They started, followed by a crowd. In an hour—an hour of anxiety and excitement—they returned, and produced the money in court.

"Now," said the prisoner. "send to room No. 15, at the Linden House, on A—— street, and you will find a hair trunk, which you will bring to me."

In due time the trunk was brought into court, and at the previous secret request of the Judge, through the Sheriff, he and the trunk were placed in one ante-room and Mr. Rawlins in another.

In a few moments he, or Rawlins, no one knew which it was, took his place in the box, and the Judge ordered the Sheriff to summon the cashier, which he did.

He now came in.

"Are you the cashier of the bank in which that check was forged for $10,000?"

"I am sir."

"Before passing sentence upon this man I would have you look at him, and tell the court that he is the man," said the Judge.

"He is the man! I cannot be mistaken, although I am sorry to say it."

Here the prisoner suddenly twitched the whiskers from his face, threw off his hat and coat, and stood in his shirt sleeves a boy. The cashier swooned, and fell upon the floor, and was carried out of the court room.

"I am the man," said the prisoner, who did the forging of that check. I came from England a few months ago, determined to make a raise. I knew the man called Rawlins, and, knowing that he bore a good reputation, morally and financially, I determined to personate him if possible, knowing that the man would be looked at and not the check. How well I did it you all know; but I could not see an innocent man suffer for a crime that I had committed."

Rawlins was discharged and borne off trumphantly on the shoulders of his friends and in consideration of the honesty of the heart of the young man, the Governor commuted his sentence from twenty to two years, he having been convicted on another charge.

IN the execution of a deed by a man and his wife, the wife was taken aside by the commissioner before the acknowledgment was made, who in the usual form asked, 'Do you execute this deed freely and without any fear or compulsion of your husband?' 'Fear of my husband?' exclaimed the wife; 'I've had five husbands, and never was afraid of any of them!'

SKINFLINT—who "gives nothing to street beggars"—buttoned his pockets on being approached by a soldier, and said: "My dear fellow, I never can repay the debt I owe you—the debt we all owe you for your noble self-sacrifice! Money can't do it! It is of no use trying!" With this patriotic utterance he walked away.

A PRACTICAL printer in California claims to have fairly won the title of a practical undertaker, as he has killed, in an editorial capacity, no less than twenty-nine newspapers. He is still in the prime of manhood.

THEY tell of a farmer in Kentucky who was so lazy that when he went to hoe corn he worked so slowly that the shade of his broad rimmed hat killed the plants.

AN Irish paper says that, "In the absence of both editors, the publishers have succeeded in securing the services of a gentleman to edit the paper this week."

THE QUAKER'S CORN CRIB.

A man had been in the habit of stealing corn from his neighbor, who was a Quaker. Every night he would go softly to his crib and fill his bag with the ears which the good old Quaker's toil had placed there. Every morning the old gentleman observed a diminution of his corn pile. This way was annoying, and must be stopped—but how!—Many a one would have said, "Take a gun, conceal yourself, wait till he comes, and fire." Others would have said, "Catch the villian, and have him sent to jail."

But the Quaker was not prepared to enter into any such severe measures. He wanted to punish the offender, and at the same time bring about his reformation if possible. So he fixed a sort of trap close to the hole through which the man would thrust his arm in getting the corn.

The wicked neighbor proceeded on his unholy errand at the hour of mid-night, with bag in hand. Unsuspectingly he thrust his hand into the crib to seize an ear, when, lo! he found himself unable to withdraw it! In vain he tugged, and pulled, and sweated, and alternately cried and cursed. His hand was fast, and every effort to release it only made it more secure. After a time the tumult in his breast measurably subsided. He gave over his useless struggles, and began to look around him. All was silent and repose. Good men were sleeping comfortably in their beds, while he was compelled to keep a dreary, disgraceful watch through the remainder of that long and tedious night, his hand in constant pain from the pressure of the clamp which held it. His tired limbs, compelled to sustain his weary body, would fain have sunk beneath him, and his heavy eyes would have closed in slumber, but no, there was no rest for him. There he must stand and watch the progress of the night and at once desire and dread the return of morning. Morning came at last, and the Quaker looked out of the window, and he found that he had now "caught his man."

What was to be done? Some would say, "Go out and give him a good cow-hiding just as he stands, and then release him; that'll cure him." But not so said the Quaker. Such a course would have sent the man away embittered, and muttering curses of revenge. The good old man hurried on his clothes and started at once to the relief and punishment of his prisoner.

"Good morning, friend," said he, as he came in speaking distance, "How does thee do?"

The poor culprit made no answer, but burst into tears.

"O fie!" said the Quaker, as he proceeded to release him. "I'm sorry that thee has got thy hand fast. Thee put it in a wrong place, or it would not have been so."

The man looked crest fallen, and, begging forgiveness, hastily turned to make retreat. "Stay," said his persecutor—for he was now becoming such to the offender, who could have received a blow with much better grace than the kind words that were falling from the Quaker's lips—"stay, friend, thy bag is not filled. Thee needs corn, or thee would not have taken so much pains to get it. Come, let us fill it." And the poor fellow was obliged to stand and hold the bag while the old man filled it, interspersing the exercise with the pleasantest conversation imaginable—all of which were like daggers in the heart of his chagrined and mortified victim. The bag was filled, and string tied, and the sufferer hoped soon to be out of the presence of his tormenter, but again his purpose was thwarted.

"Stay," said the Quaker, as the man was about to hurry off, having muttered once more his apologies and thanks.—"Stay, Ruth has breakfast ere this; thee must not think of going without breakfast. Come, Ruth is calling."

This was almost unendurable! This was "heaping coals" with a vengeance! In vain the mortified neighbor begged to be excused; in vain he pleaded to be released from what would be to him a punishment ten times more severe than stripes and imprisonment. The Quaker was inexorable, and he was obliged to yield.

Breakfast over. "Now," said the old farmer, as he helped the victim to put the bag on his shoulder, "If thee need any more corn, come in the day time, and thee shall have it."—Pastor and People.

THE McConnelsville Herald says: "Rev. Cooper, of the Presbyterian church, of this place, took an advanced position on the temperance question last Sunday—an advanced position for a minister even. Before the morning service began the deacons of the church made their annual report, and announced that the books were open for subscriptions for the coming year. After this announcement was made, Rev. Cooper instructed the deacons as follows: 'To recieve no money on subscriptions from families, any part of whose income is derived from the sale of intoxicating liquors; to mark all such subscriptions as paid, and charge the same to his account; that if the amount allowed him as salary could not be raised from other sources, the salary might be reduced just as much as the subscriptions from these doubtful sources amounted to.' These instructions were given by Rev. Cooper that his precepts may have the weight of example."

IN Russia the circulation of the Bible is rapidly increasing. Not long ago a handsomely bound copy of the New Testament, quarto size, was presented to one of the Emperor's children as a birthday gift. The Empress complained of its size, and asked: "Why is not a smaller edition printed?" "If it is your Imperial Majesty's pleasure, it can soon be done," was the answer. Her Majesty at once gave orders for 15,000 copies, and the number was soon increased to 50,000. Since 1853 over 85,000 copies of the New Testament have been circulated in the Russian language.

The other day, while a teacher was hearing a boy recite his lesson, the following passage occurred: "The wages of sin is death." The teacher wishing to get the word "wages" out by deduction, asked: "What does your father get every Saturday night?" The boy answered promptly: "He gets drunk."

YOUNG AMERICA AT THE WHEEL.—A well-known clergyman was crossing Lake Erie, some years ago, upon one of the lake steamers, and, seeing a small lad at the wheel steering the vessel, he accosted him as follows:

"My son, you appear to be a small boy to steer so large a boat."

"Yes, sir," was the reply; "but you see I can do it, though."

"Do you think you understand your business, my son?"

"Yes, sir; I think I do."

"Can you box the compass?"

"Yes, sir."

"Let me hear you box it."

The boy again did as requested, when the minister said:

"Well, really, you can do it! Can you box it backwards?"

"Yes, sir."

"Let me hear you."

The boy again did as requested, when the minister remarked:

"I declare, my son! You do seem to understand your business."

The boy then took his turn at questionasking, beginning:

"Pray, sir what might be your business?"

"I am a minister of the gospel."

"Do you understand your business?"

"I think I do, my son."

"Can you say the Lord's Prayer?"

"Yes."

"Say it."

The clergyman did so, repeating the words in a very fervent manner, as though trying to make an impression on the lad.

"Well, really," said the boy, upon its conclusion, "you do know it, don't you? Now say it backward."

"Oh! I can't do such a thing as that. Of course—"

"You can't do it, eh?" returned the boy. "Well, then, you see, I understand my business a great deal better than you do yours."

The clergyman acknowledged himself beaten, and retired.

A BOY'S COMPOSITION ON THE GOAT.—A goat is longer than a pig, and gives milk. He looks at you. So does the doctor, but a goat has four legs. My goat butted Deacon Tillinghast in a bad place, and a little calf wouldn't do so. A boy without a father is an orphan, and if he hain't got no mother he is two orphans.—The goat don't give so much milk as a cow, but more than an ox. I saw an ox at a fair one day, and we went in on a family ticket. Mother picks geese in summer, and the goats eats grass and jumps on a box. Some folks don't like goats, but as for me, give me a mule with a paint-brush tail. The goat is a useful animal, but don't smell as sweet as nice bear's oil for the hair. If I had too much hair I would wear a wig, as old Captain Peters does. I will sell my goat for three dollars, and go to the circus to see the elephant, which is larger than five goats.

THOMAS SHINE.

COURAGE WILL WIN.—Once a keeper of an Asylum had occasion to go upon the roof of the builing—a very high one. A patient unobserved quickly mounted the ladder after him, and confronting the keeper at the top, told him if he (the keeper) did not jump down, he (the lunatic) would throw him down. There was no mistaking the menacing look and tone. Escape was impossible. Suddenly a happy thought struck the keeper. 'Ha!' said he, with an air of easy confidence, 'to jump down would be no great feat. I tell you what—I'll go down and jump up.' The madman was off the scent at once.—The notion pleased him immensely.—Both descended the ladder, and the keeper saved his life by this lucky stratagem.

A MAN down in Salome broke a chair over his wife's head a week or two ago, and succeeded in killing her. When he got to jail and the clergyman undertook to talk with him, he displayed a great deal of penitence and shed quantities of tears. He said he was sorry—very sorry that he had permitted his passion to obtain the mastery of him, and to suffer him to do such an act; because it was a good chair—one of those good old-fashioned windsor chairs, which was an heirloom in his family, and he knew he never could replace it—never; and he wept afresh. The minister excused himself, and went home to finish his sermon.

DEAN SWIFT'S PARROT.—A good story is told of Dean Swift's Parrot, which was a great pet with the whole family. One day Polly managed to open her cage and get away, to the great consternation of the whole household. After a great search Polly was found in the garden, on the top of an apple tree. The welcome news was communicated to the Dean, who, with the whole of the inmates, rushed out at once, accompanied by Dr. Vaughan, who with some friends, was then on a visit to the Dean. Polly was found swinging on the topmost branch, but when she discovered the large audience below her, she looked gravely down at them, and said, "Let us pray."

A LOUISVILLE girl, whose lover calls every morning and stays all day, and long into the night, became discouraged at so much attention and concocted a plan to get rid of him by asking him to help to move the piano up stairs, and after that was done, changed her mind and had him help to move it down. She had it moved to and fro seven times, and he didn't see the point, and the other night, in despair, she threw a pail of water on him out of the window. He says you can't place any confidence in women, and he has presented a bill for removing furniture.

COMPLIMENTARY.—An editor down east thus speak of a cotemporary:

"He is to lazy too earn a meal and too mean to enjoy one. He was never generous but once, and that was when he gave the itch to his apprentice. So much for his goodness of heart. Of his industry, the pupil may the better judge when we state that the only day he ever worked was the day he mistook castor oil for honey.

AN indebted customer enters provision store, remarking, 'I'll take a leg of mutton, and I want to pay for it.' 'All right,' replies the dealer, handing him the meat, which customer takes and starts to go.—'Look er' here,' cries the dealer; 'I thought you said you wanted to pay for it.' 'So I do,' was the reply; 'but I can't.' The dealer looked a little sheepish at being sold himself, and not selling the hindquarter for cash in hand.

IN an Iowa breach of promise case, the woman swore that the accused had hugged her every night for several months, and Sunday nights until three o'clock in the morning. The industrious, but ungrateful culprit, was fined one dollar and costs.

SOME QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

To the Commercial Editor of the Independent: Having a few thousand dollars that I shall not need in business, and being naturally desirous of obtaining an investment which will produce the greatest income consistent with entire safety I am led to ask you the following questions, which I shall be glad to have you answer, either privately or through the columns of the Independent:

1. Do you think that, as a rule, first mortgage railroad bonds are a desirable investment? In what do they differ from a first mortgage on ordinary real estate?

2. I notice you recommend Northern Pacific seven-thirties to investors. Why do you regard them as unusually secure?

3. Is the Government pledged to the payment of these Northern Pacific bonds?

4. I notice they are selling at par. Isn't this to high? Cannot good railroad securities be bought cheaper?

5. I hold a few five-twenties; do you believe the Government will soon call for their surrender?

6. What assurance have investors that Northern Pacific seven-thirties will not hereafter depreciate below the price at which they are now sold, compelling those who wish to realize on them to do so at a loss?

TO THE ABOVE THE INDEPENDENT ANSWERS.

I. Thus far the first mortgage bonds of American railways have proved to be among the very safest securities. In proportion to amount, they have probably shown a smaller percentage of loss in interest and principal than any other investment that has been the history of railway securities. Of course there have been exceptional cases of mismanagement and loss; but far oftener have imperfect titles, lapsed insurance policies, ands shrinkages of value rendered real estate mortgages a bad investment. There is a living principle underlying a railway bond, which applies to very few if any other securities. This

1. Usually the solvency of a railroad depends mainly upon its traffic; and, as a rule, that traffic steadily increases as the road grows older and the population along its route becomes richer and denser. In a word, the income of a railroad (and hence its debt-paying ability) will ordinarily keep pace with the growth of population.

2. A railroad, once built, rapidly creates a business which is to render it profitable. It develops a carrying trade which did not before exist, and which grows much faster than the tributary population increases in numbers.

3. A railroad usually has back of it a strong corporation of capitalists and shrewd, energetic business men, whose profits, financial standing, commercial reputation, and official positions depend upon the solvency and success of the road with which they are identified. This powerful combination of private interests constitutes a living power whose efforts tend constantly to increase the profitableness and soundness of the enterprise in whose interest they are enlisted.

4. Finally, after a railroad is built, every dollar expended in making improvements and extensions, and adding new facilities for doing business, and in securing valuable alliances with connecting lines, adds to the security of its first mortgage bonds, by augmenting the productiveness and value of the property on which those bonds are based. It is in this way that a second mortgage may increase the safety of the first. With mortgages which rest upon improved real estate in our midst the security steadily deteriorates with time, as the improvements become less valuable. Railroads grow better and more prosperous with age, and furnish a constantly increasing security for the debt created in their construction. It is for these reasons that first mortgage bonds are among the very soundest securities that can be had.

II. The Northern Pacific Railroad has a threefold solidity, which renders it especially impregnable. 1. It has for its broad and firm foundation a real estate endowment of more than Twenty-two Thousand Acres of fertile Land to each mile of track—or an unencumbered farm of 500 acres (in addition to the ordinary and ample security of the road and its traffic) to secure each $1,000 bond bought by the public. 2. It has awaiting it a business which we believe is certain to render it self-sustaining from the first, and to give it a large surplus at an early day. 3. It is in the hands of men of known and acknowledged integrity, whose financial standing, whose busines sagacity and thorough experience, furnish a complete guaranty that economy, energy and fidelity will characterize its management.

III. Government does not in form guaranty the payment of Northern Pacific seven-thirties; but it indirectly insures their their payment by donating unreservedly to the company sufficient productive lands to pay them twice over. The belt of country in which this superb domain is situated admirably combines the three elements essential to successful farming—viz: a naturally rich soil, a mild climate (the latitude being about two degrees below Paris, and six below London,) and sufficient rainfall.

IV. When there is no difference in point of safety, the comparative market value of various securities is mainly determined by their profitableness. In this view Northern Pacific gold seven-thirties, selling at par in currency, are by far the cheapest investment of which we have knowledge. Regarded as a source of income; they are cheaper at par than a six per cent. currency bond at 74½. In other words, one hundred dollars invested in Northern Pacifics at par will produce a larger income than the same amount invested in a six per cent. gold security at 82.

V. We regard it as highly probable that a large proportion of the present holders of Government bonds will be compelled to give them up within a comparatively short time, and accept therefor cash payment or a new five per cent. bond. Everything now indicates that the Government will soon be able to fund the bulk of its five-twenties at a lower rate of interest. Hence we have uniformally advised our subscribers to convert their Government bonds into some first-class railroad security, having equal safety and greater permanence and productiveness.

VI. Of course, all securities, even those of the United States, are liable to occasional slight fluctuation in current price—the result of outside circumstances, and not of any change in real value. But the same causes which now render Northern Pacific seven-thirties an exceptional strong and desirable security will naturally sustain them in the market so that those who wish to convert their bonds into cash can can do so at any time without loss. Indeed, with their superabundant security, their high rate of interest, and the provision that they will always be received at ten per cent. premium in payment for the Company's lands, 7 3-10 per cent., Northern Pacific Bonds are far more likely to go above par in price than to fall below.—New York Independent.

The Star and Sentinel.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 10, 1871.

D. A. BUEHLER, Editor and Business Agent.

Advertisers and others interested will bear in mind that the regular circulation of the "STAR AND SENTINEL" is much larger than that of any other paper published in the County, being read weekly by not less than 11,000 persons.

SOME of our Democratic exchanges urge Hon. Jeremiah S. Black as their next Presidential candidate. We like the idea and hope the programme will find favor in their next National Convention. Frank Blair insists that the party lost the last race, by the craven-hearted policy of the leaders. Judge Black would suit Blair, and the two would make a capital team for President and Vice-President. Black glories in having lead Buchanan astray, denounces Secretary Stanton as a knave, and makes no concealment of his rebel proclivities; while Blair is for ripping up the whole policy of Re-construction. Both are frank, out-spoken Democrats, not ashamed of the real aims of their party—don't believe in hypocritical concealment—and want to make a square stand-up fight. We go for Black and Blair.

THE re-election of our townsman, Hon. EDWARD MCPHERSON, as Clerk of the House of Representatives, is a compliment of which he and his friends may well feel proud. The position is one of influence and responsibility, is sought and has been filled by men of national reputation, the same person seldom filling the position two terms in succession. A re-election for five successive terms is unprecedented. The compliment is more marked, in that a re-nomination was unanimously tendered by the Republicans of the House, no candidate being presented against him. The Democratic members, of course, formally recorded their votes for their own caucus nominee; but we have reason to know they share, with the Republican members, confidence in his administration. The Philadelphia Age, the leading Democratic paper in this State, thus expresses itself:

> "Hon. Edward McPherson will, it seems, be the Clerk of the House of Representatives in the next Congress.—If a Democrat cannot be chosen, the Radical party can furnish no better man than Mr. McPherson. He is, in the execution of his duties, and in his personal character, one of the most satisfactory officers that his party has ever chosen."

WE print in another column the charge of Judge Pryor to the Grand Jury of the Frankfort (Kentucky) Court, in which the existence of the lawless Ku-Klux organizations is not only recognized but described in terms which we commend to northern Democrats who affect to disregard these Ku-Klux as idle coinings of the brain. These honest and spontaneous utterances of a Kentucky "conservative" are sustained by an indignant editorial from The Louisville Courier-Journal, in which that leading organ of the Democratic party of the South-west thus denounces the ruffian bands whose crimes now threaten the very foundations of society in a half-dozen States:

> They have usurped the powers of Government; made murder their pastime and terrorism their sceptre; conferred upon their adherents the rights of private vengeance and assumed to protect them from the penalties of outraged law. No home is safe, no place is sacred from their invasions. To show their strength and their utter contempt for all Departments of the State Government, they fill the vicinity of the capitol during the brief period of the legislative session with deeds of blood, and carry their lawless violence with insulting defiance to the very doors of our legislative halls."

From the same State comes the disgraceful intelligence that the Government has been forced to discontinue the mail route between Frankfort and Louisville on account of the incessant outrages committed by the Ku-Klux upon the carriers. Is the war over, when the Government is powerless to protect its communications between the capital and the commercial metropolis of a great central State.

THE French Assembly having ratified the conditions of Peace, the Germans evacuated Paris on Friday. During their occupation of the city, the French retired from the quarters occupied by the German troops and sullenly refused any intercourse with them. So bitter was the feeling, that after the retirement of the Germans, several men and women, who had been seen to enter into conversation with them, were mobbed and brutally beaten by an excited mob. The Emperor William telegraphed to the Empress at Berlin the final conclusion of Peace as follows:

> VERSAILLES, March 8.
> "I have just ratified the conditions of peace, which the Bordeaux Assembly have accepted. Thus far the work is complete, which was through seven months of battles to be achieved, thanks to the valor, devotion, and endurance of our incomparable army, and the sacrifices of the whole Fatherland. The Lord of Hosts has everywhere visibly blessed our enterprises, and by His mercy has permitted an honorable peace. To Him be the honor! to the Fatherland the thanks. WILHELM."

This dispatch was publicly read in Berlin, amid the booming of artillery, the ringing of bells, and the cheers of a people wild with joy. At night, the city was illuminated.

The German army has already commenced its homeward march, except the troops detailed to hold certain French provinces, until the war indemnity is paid, as provided in the treaty. Prince Frederick Charles will have command of the German army of occupation.

Arrangements were being completed for the return of the prisoners of war held by Germany. A corps of 40,000 French troops has occupied Paris, relieving the Mobile Guards, to preserve order and repress revolutionary outbreaks. The Paris deputies, representing the Red Republicans, had resigned their seats in the National Assembly, because of the ratification of the treaty.

It is said Louis Napoleon will leave his quarters in Germany, and remain with the Empress at Chiselhurst, England, until France has definitely decided its future government. He still hopes for a restoration of the empire—hopes that are not likely to be realized. France will be either republican or monarchical. If the latter, an Orleanist prince will be called to the throne.

In the Assembly, on Monday, motions for the arrest and impeachment of the members of the Provisional Government, were made by Louis Blanc, Victor Hugo and Delesclux, on behalf of the Red Republicans. Trouble was apprehended from the revolutionary element in Paris. Gen. Palladines, appointed to command the troops in the city, has issued a proclamation announcing his purpose to preserve order at all hazards.

IN the revision of the U. S. Senate Committees, Senator Morton will be made chairman of the Foreign Committee, instead of Mr. Sumner, the latter not being at present in accord with the President's foreign policy.

CONGRESS—OLD AND NEW.

The 41st Congress closed its session on Saturday, at 12 o'clock. Both the Senate and House sat [illegible] Friday night, and were engaged on business as the hands on the clock reached twelve, when further legislation was suspended by the fall of the gavel [illegible] presiding officers, announcing that the constitutional limit of the session of the 41st Congress had been reached. Most of the important bills pending were saved by Committees of Conference on Friday night and Saturday morning. The Senate was engaged on a bill to appropriate $20,000 to indemnify the Sisters of Charity for damages sustained during the bombardment of Charleston, when the hour of adjournment was reached, and the bill fell. The House was engaged in calling the yeas and nays on the bill to abolish the office of Admiral and Vice Admiral, when the speaker's hammer suspended further proceedings.

Both Houses of the 42d Congress were at once called to order. In the Senate a number of new Senators were sworn in, and the usual committee appointed to notify the President of the organization of a new Congress.

In the House, Speaker Blaine having retired from the chair, Hon. Edward McPherson, Clerk of the last House, took the Clerk's desk, and called the body to order. He said the hour having arrived for the organization of the House of Representatives of the Forty-second Congress, the Clerk of the last House, in accordance with law, would proceed to call the roll as the credentials had been presented to him, in accordance with law. The roll being completed, the Clerk said that the next thing in order would be the election of a Speaker.

Mr. Blair, of Michigan, nominated Hon. James G. Blaine, of Maine.

Mr. Wood, of New York, said that in behalf of the Democrats of the House he nominated Hon. George W. Morgan, of Ohio as their candidate.

The ballot resulted—for Blaine 110, Morgan 93. Mr. Blaine having been declared elected, took the speaker's chair and said—

Gentlemen—The Speakership of the American House of Representatives has always been esteemed an enviable honor. A re-election to the position carries with it a peculiar gratification in that it implies an approval of past official bearing. For this great mark of your confidence I can but return to you my sincerest thanks with the assurance of my utmost devotion to the duties which you call upon me to discharge.

Chosen by the party representing the political majority in this House, the Speaker owes a faithful allegiance to the principles and policy of that party; but he will fall far below the honorable requirements of his station if he fails to give to the minority their full rights under the rules which he is called upon to administer.—The successful working of our grand system of Government depends largely upon the vigilance of party organizations, and the most wholesome legislation which this House produces and perfects is that which results from opposing forces, mutually eager and watchful and well nigh balanced in numbers.

The Forty-second Congress assembles at a period of general content, happiness and prosperity throughout the land. Under the wise administration of the National Government peace reigns on all our borders, and the only serious misunderstanding with any foreign Power is, we may hope, at this moment in process of honorable, cordial and lasting adjustment. We are fortunate in meeting at such a time; in representing such constitutencies; in legislating for such a country.

Trusting, gentlemen, that our official intercourse may be free from all personal asperity, believing that all our labors will eventuate for the public good, and craving the blessing of Him without whose aid we labor in vain, I am now ready to proceed with the further organization of the House, and as the first step thereto I will myself take the oath prescribed by the Constitution and the laws.

The oath was administered to the speaker by Mr. Dawes, the oldest continuing member, after which the members elect were sworn in.

Mr. Dawes offered a resolution declaring the following persons (the Republican caucus nominees) elected officers of the House:

Edward McPherson, of Pennsylvania, Clerk of the House.

Nehemiah G. Ordway, of New Hampshire, Sergeant-at-arms.

Otis S. Buxton, of New York, Doorkeeper.

William S. King, of Minnesota, Postmaster.

Rev. J. G. Butler, of the District of Columbia, Chaplain.

Mr. Wood moved to substitute the names of the Democratic caucus nominees, viz:

James G. Berret, of the District of Columbia, Clerk of the House.

Nicholas Orenberg, of Pennsylvania, Sergeant-at-arms.

Owen Thorn, of California, Doorkeeper.

Seaton Gales, of North Carolina, Postmaster.

Ignatius Cooper, of Delaware, Chaplain.

Mr. Wood's motion was rejected yeas 86, nays 125, when the original motion was adopted, and the officers elected were sworn in.

Mr. Schofield presented the memorial of Hon. John Cessna, contesting the seat of B. F. Meyers, which was referred to the Committee on Elections when appointed.

The President replied to the Committee which announced the organization of the 42d Congress, that he would have communications to make within the week and hoped Congress would not adjourn until then. The Senate thereupon laid on the table the House resolution on adjournment. In the House, a resolution directing the Speaker to proceed at once to the appointment of Committees, was laid on the table. Both houses adjourned over to Thursday.

The contested election case of Cessna vs. Meyers is at the head of the list, and will be the first disposed of by the Committee on Elections. The testimony was presented to the House on Tuesday and was ordered to be printed. It is said to be very voluminous, there being a large number of witnesses.—Should Congress remain in session a few more weeks it may be disposed of at this session; otherwise it will go over to December. Mr. Cessna claims to have shown a clear legal majority of over 100 against Meyers.

THE rebel element still dominates many sections of the South, and developes its wicked spirit in bitter persecution of union men, white and black. The Ku-Klux organizations concentrate this rebel malignity and work outrages and assassination to the terror of law-abiding citizens. The following is given as one of the verses of a song still popular in the South:

"I hate the Constitution,
That glorious Union, too;
I hate the Freedmen's bureau,
And everything in blue;
I hate the American eagle,
With all its brass and fuss,
And the lying, cheating Yankee,
I hates them wus and wus."

THE two wings of the Republican party in Missouri have got tired of fighting each other for the benefit of the common enemy, and agreed to unite.—The State Committees have already coalesced and issued an address to the Republicans of the State, urging union and harmony. The division lost us the Legislature at the last election and sent Frank Blair to the U. S. Senate. One year's experience in such folly has, we hope, fully satisfied Missouri.

LEGISLATURE.

ON the 1st inst., Mr. Hereter presented to the House nine petitions in favor of the Local Option Law.

On the [illegible] the House passed a bill, reported by [illegible] Hereter, to repeal [illegible] forfeited recognizances in [illegible] Adams county Courts, the purchase of a law library; [illegible] to [illegible] Peter Thorn to send his children to school in Gettysburg; also a supplement to an act entitled "an act to empower the Orphans Court of Adams county to authorize Adam Lerew, trustee of Hiram Albert, to purchase real estate, and decree the sale thereof," approved April 3, 1867.

On the 3rd inst., Mr. Hereter read in place a supplement to the Act in relation to pleadings and judgement, voluntary arbitration, and additional return days for writs issuing from the court of common pleas in the 9th judicial district, (York and Adams,) and the practice of the Court thereon, approved April 9, 1868.

The "Local Option" bill was before the House on the 1st inst., as the special order. It provides that the vote for or against license be taken by wards, cities, boroughs and townships. A motion was made to amend, so as to make the vote by counties, which failed, yeas 28, nays 68—Mr. Hereter voting with the friends of the bill, in the negative.—After a protracted and able debate, the House was brought to a vote on the bill. The yeas and nays were called, as a test vote, on the first section, resulting yeas 59, nays 35—Mr. Hereter voting against the bill. The other sections were then agreed to, and a motion to suspend the rules to put the bill on final passage failed for want of two-thirds, the vote being yeas 53, nays 37.

The bill passed the House finally on Tuesday evening, yeas 51, nays 35. It now goes to the Senate.

The Senate has passed the Bendersville railroad bill; also a bill extending to Beaver, Adams and Franklin counties the provisions of an act relating to appeals and transcripts from judgments of Justices of the Peace in the county of Juniata, approved April 4, 1870. It provides that parties taking transcripts shall pay all costs accrued up to the issue of the transcript; provided, that appellants who make oath of inability to pay costs shall have the right to appeal and demand transcripts without such payment.

In the Senate, on Friday, Mr. Davis from the Committee on Apportionment, reported a bill apportioning the Senatorial and Legislative districts, which was ordered to be printed. It makes the most of Democratic majorities, while in some cases Republican counties are swallowed up by association with heavier Democratic counties. It makes Adams and Franklin a Senatorial district, as at present. Adams and Franklin are put in one Legislative district with two members. York gets 2, Cumberland 1, Bedford and Fulton 1, and Somerset 1. The bill will undergo material alteration before final adoption.

There seems to be no settled principle regulating the apportionment, some counties having separate representation and others being tacked together to make the election of Democratic members sure. Thus Luzerne, being uncertain in politics, is tacked to Democratic Monroe, and given five members. So with other districts. It is confessedly a "gerry-mander," and Mr. Davis can hardly hope to carry it through. Even if the Democratic majority in the Senate can be got to toe the mark, the House will send it where "the woodbine twineth."

On Tuesday the Senate passed the bill to exempt all the parsonages in the counties of Franklin and Adams from taxation.

ON Tuesday next the Gubernatorial election in New Hampshire comes off.—Both parties are improving what little time remains to them, and a heavy vote may be expected. The Republican majority over all parties last year was but a little over one thousand, and unusual interest therefore attaches to the result.

PROMISSORY NOTES.—The late decision of the Supreme Court in this State in reference to the liabilities of the maker of a promissorry note, is one to which the attention of every one doing business should be specially directed. An ordinary promissory note was filled up for the payment of one hundred dollars. After the note was made, the payee, it is asserted, added the words "and fifty," thus making it a promissory note for one hundred and fifty dollars. This note was passed into the hands of an innocent third party, who claimed the full sum named in the note. On an appeal to the Supreme Court it was decided that the drawer was liable, he having invited the fraud by his own negligence. It is well known that there is a blank space on all printed promissory notes where the amount of money to be paid is written, and that at the end of their blank space the word "dollars" is printed. The Supreme Court declared that it was negligence on the part of the drawer in not drawing a line between the written word "hundred" and the printed word "dollars," and that where such negligence existed, and there was nothing on the face of the note that showed any alteration the drawer was liable. The Chief Justice added that the Supreme Court deemed such a rule necessary to facilitate the circulation of commercial paper and at the same time increase the care of drawers. The rule is only to apply, however, where an alteration is not apparent on the face of the paper.

STATE AND CONGRESSIONAL ELECTIONS.—New York is to be added to the list of States whose Democratic Legislature are endeavoring to escape the effect of the Enforcement act at State elections by changing them to a different day from that on which the Congressional elections are held. A bill for that purpose was introduced in the New York Legislature on Monday. By this plan they hope to carry on, says the Tribune, so far as the State Government is concerned, their traditional tactics of ballot-stuffing free from the prying eyes of Federal supervisors. Of course, the expense of a few millions, more or less, consequent upon having two election days instead of one, is too trifling a detail to be considedred, by these worthy patriots. The movement is not without its significent as a tacit confession of the convictions of Tammany that its hold upon elections is gone as soon as they are honestly conducted.

THERE is a good story told in Washington, about a Chinese servant employed by Admiral Porter. On reception day the duty of attending door was assigned to Ah Sin. Accustomed to the social usages of his own land where a visitor's rank is indicated by the size of the card, and where a huge yellow one means the presence of a prince, he treated the little bit of pasteboards with contempt.—While nodding his head and tossing the bits of papers unceremoniously in the basket, the gas collector happened to present his bill. The long yellow slip took Ah Sin, and with profound salaams he bowed the astonished gas man into the presence of the amazed family.

IN the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Virginia vs. West Virginia, involving the validity of the cession of Berkley and Jefferson counties to West Virginia, the Court decided that the counties named were a portion of West Virginia.

BISMARCK is preparing a circular addressed to the diplomatic agents of Germany in foreign countries, reviving the history of the war and the changed political position of the German Empire. He comments with great severity upon the attitude of England during the war.

THE COAL QUESTION.—The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company have addressed a lengthy memorial to the Pennsylvania Legislature, defending their action relative to the recent coal strike. They throw all the responsibility of the difficulty upon the workmen.

THE total appropriations of Congress for 1872 are $163,444,681.62, or $5,593,549.98 in excess of those for 1871, which were $157,851,131.64. The whole increase can be attributed to the new pension laws, which appropriate nearly double that amount, thus showing an actual reduction in the expenses of the departments.

THE Catholic almanac for 1871 states that the Catholic population of Pennsylvania is 585,000, of which 235,000 are in the diocese of Philadelphia, 150,000 in Pittsburg, 60,000 in Scranton, 60,000 in Erie, and 4,000 in Harrisburg. There are seven Archbishops, 61 Bishops, and three Mitred Abbots, having jurisdiction in the United States.

MURDER AMONGST BOYS.—At Nauvoo, Illinois, a short time since a lad named Logan broke away from a schoolmistress while she was punishing him, and was captured and brought back by another lad named Yates. This so enraged an elder brother of Logan that on Friday last when the two met at school, Logan attacked Yates with a knife and stabbed him badly. He died within a few hours. Logan fled and has not yet been arrested.

THE NEXT SUGAR CROP.—The New Orleans Picayune says there is every indication that strenuous efforts will be made to increase the production of Louisiana sugar next year. The old planters intend to extend their acreage under sugar, and many will abandon cotton culture and turn their attention to the sweets. In many parishes planting has already commenced, where the requisite labor has been secured. Very high wages are being paid, so strong is the competion for labor.

LIQUOR dealers in Ohio complain that under the new law women who have shiftless husbands are suing them for support on the ground that the men are prevented from providing for their families in consequence of their indulgence in liquor; and the women get verdicts in their favor, sometimes even when it is proved that the improvident husbands will not work when they are perfectly sober. The consequence is that in some parts of the State a married man cannot get a drink of liquor without a written permission from his wife—and a very good consequence it is.

ON Monday while Justice Bramlette was trying a colored man for riotous conduct at Meridian, Miss., a disturbance occurred in the court room, and a black man named Tyler shot Bramlette, killing him instantly. Tyler and two of his comrades were killed by the citizens.

Later particulars from Meridian, Miss., relative to the shooting of Justice Bramlette, set forth that six colored men were subsequently shot and killed as the result of the action of one of their number in summarily despatching the justice.

AN old negro woman, in accounting for lack of discipline among youngsters, insists that it is because their mothers wear gaiters. "You see, when we wore low shoes and the chilun wanted whippin', we just took off a shoe mighty quick, and guv 'em a good spankin'; but now, how's a body to get a gaiter off in time? So the chilun gets no whippins' at all nowadays."

WHEN in Aberdeen, Dr. Johnson dined with a clergyman, the soup being hotch-potch. The lady of the house, after having served him once, asked if he would take some more. The gruff and stern moralist and outspoken social bear replied: "It is a dish fit for hogs, madam."—"Take a little more then," was the immediate and appropriate reply.

A LITTLE boy in Wisconsin was being put to bed the other night about dark, when he objected to going so early. His mother told him the chickens went to bed early, and he must do so to. The little fellow said he would if his mother would do as the old hens did—go to bed first, then coax the chickens to come.

NEWS OF NEIGHBORING COUNTIES.

CUMBERLAND.—A. K. [illegible] Postmaster at Carlisle, died on Saturday night; he was at one time editor of the Carlisle Herald.

FRANKLIN.—A daughter of Daniel Hollinger, near Waynesboro, aged 8 years, had her skull fractured on Saturday evening by a kick from a colt, which may prove fatal.—On the night of the 21st ult., the steam saw mill of John Ruthrauff, near Greencastle, was burnt; loss $500.—On the night of the 28th, a stable of Mrs. Bowman, Greencastle, was burnt; loss $200.

YORK.—The barn of Alexander Hay, York, was destroyed by fire on Thursday night, with contents; insured for $3,000 in the Farmers' Mutual Company.—Joseph A. Proctor, master machinist, and James Burnette, contractor engaged in building a bridge at Phœnix station on N. Central rail-road, were killed on Thursday evening by a gravel train running over them.

THE KU-KLUX.

The charge of Judge Pryor, of the Frankfort Circuit (and of course an orthodox Democrat of the Kentucky school), to the Grand Jury more than confirms all that has ever been said in Congress or elsewhere about the Ku-Klux. After commenting upon the outrage perpetrated with impunity almost under the eyes of the Court in the release of Scroggins, charged with the murder of a negro, from the Frankfort jail, Judge Pryor says:

> "If these secret, masked courts are to be held, and men taken from our county jails at their will and pleasure, and at the risk of the lives of all who resist them, we had as well tear down our temples of justice and place our lives, liberty and property in their hands. What protection can a man have at his home in town or country who, by word or action, has brought their vengeance to bear upon him, if, at the hour of midnight, they are so cruel and reckless as to tear him from his home and hang him to the first limb by the road side? What necessity is there for such a tribunal in this State? I am not cognizant of a single instance in my district where men, indicted for crime, have escaped punishment when proven guilty, but on the contrary, the able and efficient prosecuting attorney has succeeded several times in producing conviction when the proof did not, in my opinion, justify it, and I have promptly set aside the verdict. The inclination of juries, in all cases, is to punish men who violate the law. In the absence of these unlawful bands of men the social condition of the country would be undisturbed and justice meted out in our courts in accordance with the laws of the land. This cannot be any political organization. I recollect that, during the war pending between the Government and the Southern States when men were arrested and imprisoned without warrant and without a trial, none were more clamorous for the vindication of their rights by the courts of the country than those whose sympathies were with the Southern States in that struggle, and certainly this class of men have not thrown aside their manliness or bravery in order to wreak vengeance upon poor, helpless negroes. This cannot be; there is no reason for it; no motive in it.—There is no excuse, justification or palliation for such conduct, and brave men would scorn to engage in it. Some one or two negroes have been shot down in my district by armed men in disguise.—White men have been lacerated with the lash under the judgment of these courts—a deed as dark as the covering that hides their faces from the victim's view. Judgment is pronounced at the silent hour of night by a judge, whose judgment is either executed by a rope around the neck or the lash upon the back. Humanity revolts at it. Public sentiment, with the aid of the Legislature and Courts, alone can check it. The negroes I allude to were killed because they were summoned as witnesses in the Federal Courts, and were not allowed to testify at home. There should be no excuse for such an organization; in my judgment there is none now, and never can be."

THE FEMALE FARO BANKERS OF DENVER.—A woman went through on the Kansas Pacific train last evening that was pointed out to us and several other interested youths as one of the celebrated female faro bankers of Denver. She was dressed tastefully and quietly in a gray alpaca traveling suit, with gloves and trimming of hat to match; was of medium stature, well formed, and not more than 34 or 35. Her face was not at all an unpleasant one; must have been very pretty, some time, ere so many tell-tale lines were drawn upon it; and what is most unusual in women of her class, the complexion was good. She was on her way back from St. Louis, where she went, so our information stated, to place a young boy at school.

Their faro-bank at Denver has been in full blast for some time, and the two proprietors are reaping as rich a harvest as their professional "sisters" of New York, Woodhul and Claflin. No fights or disturbances of any kind have ever occurred at their rooms, and the women conduct the game with all the suavity of experienced professionals.

Several lights of the gambling fraternity of this city were at the depot, and seemed very much interested in inquiring after her welfare.

Women minstrels, women gamblers and women counterfeiters. Who protests against women's rights?—Kansas City News.

MUTILATED CURRENCY.—A Tennessee postmaster has inclosed to the United States Treasurer a slip cut from a recent North Carolina paper setting forth that the postmaster at Hillsboro, N. C., had been fined $2.90 for refusing to receive mutilated currency in payment for postage stamps, and says that since the appearance of this article in print his office has been flooded with mutialated currency, and he desires to know whether he is compelled to take it or may refuse the money so presented.

Treasurer Spinner replies, stating that under the rules of the Treasury Department postmasters are authorized to receive such currency for its full value in payment for postage stamps, when in cases of United States notes not more than seven twentieths of the note is missing, and in cases of fractional currency when not more than one-tenth is missing. When such notes and fractional currency are mutilated beyond the standard referred to, no one is compelled to receive them for any part of their value; and the only place where such notes may be redeemed is at the United States Treasury.

SPIRITUALISM RUN MAD.—On the 5th inst., a family named Walker, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Walker and two children, living in McHenry county Illinois, a short distance north of Elgin, Ill., were found dead, in their house. A letter was found explaining that the father and mother had given laudanum to their children and taken it themselves, and were happy in believing that they would go to their children in a better world. They were earnest spiritualists.

SMOKING.

The late Emperor of the French having found that the students in the colleges of France, who smoke, were decidedly inferior in their scholastic attainments to the non-smokers, prohibited this injurious habit in the colleges. It is said that the Emperor put out "30,000 pipes in one day!" Would it not be a a good thing for the rising generation of this land, if all the pipes in this country were put out. G

MR. EDITOR:—On Thursday evening last the Rev. Mr. Dixon delivered a sermon in the M. E. Church of this place, on the subject presented in the following poetry—ACROSTICAL:

Touch not the bright but ever mad'ning bowl,
Else honor, fame, and purity of soul
Must sink into the ruin it will bring—
Perish beneath its deadly pois'nous sting.
Enticing tho' its form, bright to the view,
Rich in sweet fragrance, and of brilliant hue,
An imp of dark design lurks in each drop,
Nestles secure within the spark'ling cup;
Cease not to banish then the pois'nous bowl,
Ere life and health shall fade 'neath its control.

A GOOD parody was that involved in the story of a young English nobleman, with a large number of titles and a very small amount of brains—Lord this, and Viscount that, and so on ad infinitum.—"My fair friends," said the witty N——, "one of his titles you appear to have forgotten." "Oh!" was the universal exclamation, "what is that?" "He is Barren of Intellect," was the rejoinder.

LOCAL ITEMS.

☞ No. 3 of D. F. F.'s articles on the New York State Fair will appear next week.

PATENT ISSUED.—The United States have granted a Patent to Messrs. Amos L. Keeports and William Yount, of Littlestown, for a Clothes Pin or Clasp.

ERRATA.—Our attention has been drawn by Mr. J. J. Myers, clerk of the Commissioners, to a slight error in the published accounts in the item of amount paid to Mr. Stouffer, on Eppelman's mill bridge. It should be $2,150.62 instead of $2,255,62. The total for bridge building and repairs was correct, as published.

ELECTION.—On Monday evening the annual election for officers of the Gettysburg Gas Company took place, resulting in the unanimous re-election of the old officers, viz:

President—E. G. Fahnestock.
Secretary—Wm. A. Duncan.
Treasurer—Joel B. Danner.
Managers—A. D. Buehler, M. Eichelberger, H. D. Wattles, S. R. Russell, W. A. Duncan, J. B. Danner.

EMMITSBURG ITEMS.—The Directors of the Emmitsburg Branch Railroad held a meeting on the 17th ult., at which it was determined to have the Road surveyed and located at once.

Messrs. Thomas Fraley & Son have purchased the Foundry and equipments belonging to Joseph Hays.

The application for a new Post-office near Mt. St. Mary's College has been disapproved by the Post-office Department.

GRADUATES.—The sixty-fourth commencement of the Medical Department of the University of Maryland was held in Baltimore at the Holiday Street Theatre, on Wednesday the 1st inst. Among the graduates are two from Gettysburg, Walter H. O'Neal, son of Dr. J. W. C. O'Neal, and C. H. Krise, son of Mr. Abraham Krise. Both are young gentlemen of fair promise, and we understand that both creditably acquitted themselves in their final examination.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE.—A few ladies in this place, who believe the agitation of the extension of the elective franchise to women, mischievous in its tendencies, have prepared a petition adverse to it, which has already been numerously signed. We are requested to say that ladies who feel sufficient interest in the subject matter to record their names in opposition to this so-called "woman's rights" movement, can do so by calling at the Post-office, where the petition will be left for a few days.

FIRE AT BENDERSVILLE.—On Wednesday of last week the dwelling and foundry of Mr. Enoch Routzahn, in Bendersville, was destroyed by fire. A number of patterns were burnt. Mr. Routzahn occupied part of the building as a dwelling, but saved his furniture. The foundry had recently been sold to Mr. John B. Hoffman. The fire originated on the roof, probably from the chimney, and a high wind prevailing, the entire building was soon wrapped in flames. There was an insurance of $700 on the building, and $400 on patterns, in the Lycoming company.

RAILROAD IRON PURCHASED.—The Hanover Spectator says that sufficient iron has been purchased of the Lochiel Iron Works at Harrisburg, by the Frederick and Pennsylvania Line Railroad Company, to lay the track from Littlestown as far as Taneytown, a distance of some nine or ten miles, and that the work of laying the rails will be commenced at once. The completion of the entire line to Frederick is expected by the middle of July next. The Hanover Branch Railroad Company have secured the contract to operate the road upon its completion.

LOCAL OPTION BILL.—The Local Option bill passed the House on Tuesday last, by a vote of 51 to 35, Mr. Hereter voting in the negative. The sum and and substance of the bill is to allow the people of the several cities, boroughs, and townships to decide whether or not licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors shall be granted in their districts. When a majority wants whisky they can have it. Where a majority declares against whisky the minority must do without or go elsewhere to get it. The bill is democratic, to say the least, as it refers the subject matter to the decision of majorities.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Messrs. Boyer & Son have commenced a thorough repair of their new Store-room on the north-west corner of the diamond, known as "Smith's corner." The entire room will be remodelled, with a handsome open front. The old corner will be hardly recognizable. Messrs. Boyer expect to get in the new room by the first of April.

Rev. E. Breidenbaugh has contracted with Messrs. W. C. Stallsmith & Son, for the erection of a new dwelling on the lot on Carlisle street, north of the Ehrehart property. The foundation was staked off last week, and the work will commence at once. The main building will be two-story brick, 42 feet front by 32 deep, with requisite backbuilding.

TRANSFERRED.—The work of consolidating the Internal Revenue districts, rendered necessary by reduced taxation under acts of Congress, still continues. On the 1st instant, the 14th sub-division in this county, (Mr. Beals,') was consolidated with that of John M. Krauth, Esq., of this place.

Under recent acts of Congress all special taxes and licenses, except on liquor and tobacco dealers, cease on the 1st of May next. All persons engaged in business, subject to special tax or license under the law, or engaged in such business between this and the 1st of May, must pay taxes or take out license until May 1, and are required to make return to Mr. Krauth. Those within the 15th division will make return to Wm. King, Esq., at New Oxford.

FIRE.—On Thursday night last about 8 o'clock, the town was startled by an alarm of fire, originating in the Clothing store of Mr. Samuel Wolf, on the north-east corner of the diamond. Mr. W. had closed up his store. The fire was discovered by smoke issuing from the upper part of the building. On breaking open the door the fire seemed to be mainly in one corner, under the stairway, but extending to the shelving in the front room. It was soon extinguished. But a small portion of the goods, probably $120 worth, were burned; but the balance of the goods were more or less damaged by water. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Mr. Wolf is insured in the Adams County Mutual Insurance Company, which promptly adjusted the loss at $657.50, and on Monday issued an order on the Treasurer for that amount.

The building, owned by Col. Samson, is insured in the Farmers Mutual Company of York; but the damage was slight.

LOST.—On Wednesday night last, between St. James' Church and the Keystone Hotel, a dark brown Fur Cape.—The finder will be suitably rewarded by returning it to this office.

ROTHERMEL'S GETTYSBURG.—George Alfred Townsend, in a letter to the Chicago Tribune written from Philadelphia, thus discusses Rothermel's picture of the Battle of Gettysburg:

"Philadelphia has a new picture, the Battle of Gettysburg, by Rothermel, and I went to see it, after reading the following notice:

Mr. Joseph Harrison, Jr., a rich citizen, and one of those supposed, by his patronage of artists, to be, of course, a great authority on art, says that "the advent of this picture marks an epoch in American historic art." Mr. Theodore Cuyler, a prominent lawyer, accounts for it by saying that it represents more than four years of earnest and absorbing thought and study by a man of genius. It reminds that great newspaper, the Ledger, which keeps so many correspondents in foreign lands, and is such a pervading influence in both hemispheres, of incidents thus stated: "Have we not had prophets with us who received no honor at our hands? From this quiet city of ours, in its earlier times, there departed West and Leslie.—Here they were unhonored and unsung, and would, probably, have remained so.—Abroad they acquired great success and high renown." This is unfortunately true. Of the great Philadelphian, of whatever art, it may be said, as of Albrecht Durer: "Emigravit is the inscription on the tombstone where he lies."

Finally, a native poet, one General Small, gives this large praise to Rothermel:

"Accept the tribute to thy skill and worth,
Now offered by a grateful State, which claims
Part of thy glory, since she gave thee birth.
And while she groups thee with her proudest names,
Thy genius and thy memory are Fame's,
Whose pride 'twill be through coming times to tell.
How lived, how toiled, how triumphed ROTHERMEL!"

Rather pell-mell, this praise; but cheerful, as showing a reformed heartiness of encouragement in the city not always convicted of "Brotherly Love."

THE PICTURE DESCRIBED.

I found this picture on exhibition in a special brick building on Chesnut street. Within there was a parquet floor descending to the foot-lights, and this was covered with benches, where, in the middle of the day, about a hundred people, with descriptive books and opera glasses, were silently looking down upon the immense piece of canvass. The side walls were covered with incomplete sketches which Mr. Rothermel had made apparently as processes toward his accomplished work, and some of these were studies of figures, others of landscape only, and others again of portrait faces, which he intended to paint into the panorama. The great canvas itself is 32 by 18 feet, a monstrous picture, nearly equal in size to the largest of Vernet's and Paul Veronese's. At the first glimpse it is strong and startling, and a tolerably vivid revival of a combat, while the landscape itself I can verify as being correct in tone and dip. The stone wall, up to which the great wave of rebel infantry rolled on the third day of July, is conspicuously denoted in the foreground, and nearly up to it on the right-hand side are represented the broken bands of Confederates, vigorously standing by as much ground as they could keep, while the recovered line of rebel infantry is pouring over the wall, and one conspicuous private is knocking a person down with his club-bed musket, while several others are shooting away in the most profligate manner, and everybody is in earnest, to the number of several hundred. Behind this mass of foot-soldiery some horses are seen, and vague attempts are made to designate upon these the portrait-faces of some separate commanders—for the only way in which it is possible, over a great crowd of folks, to do this, is to put in a horse now and then, so that some officer is set in relief against a cloud of smoke.

Two or three pratical farm-houses lie off nearer the horizon, and mathematical lines of reinforcements are coming in at that far distance, where all the intervening smoke seems to have perished, and the eye beholds green fields and abandoned battle-flags under the perfect azure. On the left is the Federal private-box, where General Meade (who modestly disclaims having been present at that part of the occasion) bestrides his charger, and is receiving the congratulations of two accomplished aides-de-camp. Over the heads of these a shell is seen to have burst in the neighborhood of a fortunately proximate artilleryman, an opportunity thus being given for a number of horses to execute an airy cotillion. Near the front quantities of drummer boys are lying around in a hopeless state, and some field is thus afforded for a bit of pathos, as two or three privates retire condignly from the fight to look upon them with a look midway between pain and consternation. The immediate foreground is quite an arsenal of the arms and trophies of this particular historical era, and on either side deep down in the corners are two huge groups of dead, bleeding and suffering men, who are illuminating the horrors of war, or making recruits for the next one. Far off are seen the "Round Tops" above the smoke, but it is remarkable that the group in the front discharge muskets which do not give a particle of dust of any description. These indicrous affairs are incidents to nearly all battle pictures, where an attempt is made to tell a whole epic upon one piece of canvas, but the picture was so much stronger and better than any great battle picture—great in size, I mean—which I have ever seen on this side of the Atlantic, that I felt recompensed for my visit. In one or two respects there was a fine politicial truthfulness, for the rebels are given their whole due of pluck and perseverance, and, in fact the battle is painted not in the hour and article of victory so much as in the terrible pitch of the struggle, when it is made doubtful to the eye whether the Federal cause has yet entirely prevailed. Rothermel's rebels make much the best part of his picture, for there was, at least to our Northern eyes, a certain lean, black, haggard look about the genuine rebel, particularly when clad in his soft hat and butternut uniform, that makes a very striking dramatic subject to deal with, while the florid Northern soldier, with his blue eyes, straight hair, monotonous blue uniform, and not very pronounced strength of expression, makes a typical rather than an individually heroic subject. The drawing of some of the leading figures is not good, and the shading is often worse, while the portraits, which are put in here and there, have that exceptional sort of look which a photograph head has when cut out with a pair of scissors and put on the drawing of another body. I observed individual bits of episode and composition in this picture which seemed to me to have been studied or adopted from Pils, Yvon, and, perhaps, Vernet. GATH.

DEATH OF A STRANGER.—On the 23d ult., a stranger, thought to be insane, and complaining of being ill, was sent to the Alms-house from Liberty township, on commitment of Justices Seabrooks and White. He never spoke after being received at the house, and died on the following day. His name is supposed to have been Murry; he was from 30 to 35 years of age, and poorly clad. Whence he came is not known. The remains were interred in the burial ground at the Alms-house.—Compiler.

AID FOR THE SUFFERING.—Liberal contributions are being sent from this country, to aid the suffering Germans and French. Dr. J. L. Hill, Burgess of this place, will receive any contributions our citizens desire to send, and forward them to the National Committee. During our own war the Christian and Sanitary Commissions did much to relieve the sufferings incident to battle; but in Europe they have no such organizations. Hence there is much destitution and distress.

CHANGE.—Bigham & Bro., have changed their Depot in Philadelphia to Howard Hinchman & Son, No 810 Market street. Persons desiring to have their goods shipped by Bigham's line will please notice the above change.

IMPORTANT PENSION CIRCULAR.—We have published the full text of the new Act of Congress, approved February 14th, 1871, granting pensions to soldiers and sailors of the war of 1812 and the widows of deceased soldiers and sailors. The Commissioner of Pensions has issued circulars prescribing the forms to be used by applicants, and specifically stating the three classes of claims that will arise under the act. First. The claims of officers, soldiers and sailors who served for sixty days, and who have never been pensioned for a disability incurred in the United States service. These will be entitled to a full pension of eight dollars a month from February 14th, 1871. Second. The claims of officers, soldiers and sailors who served for sixty days, but who are in receipt of a pension for disability incurred in the United States Service. These will be entitled to an increase of their pensions to eight dollars a month. Third. The claims of widows of officers, soldiers and sailors who served sixty days, who were married prior to the treaty of peace of December 24th, 1814, which terminated the war, and who have not since remarried.—These will be entitled to eight dollars a month. If the term of service was less than sixty days there is no claim for pension unless the person who served has been personally mentioned in a resolution of congress for some specific service in said war. In such case he or his widow is entitled to the same benefits as though he had served for sixty days.—An honorable discharge in all cases it necessary.

ANSWER TO ENIGMA.—C. T., of McKnightstown, send us a solution of last weeks enigma:

"All the world's a stage,
And all the men and women merely players;
They have their exits and their entances—
And one man in his time plays many parts,
His acts being seven ages."

C. T. complains that J. J. R., in preparing the enigma, omitted three letters, No. 125, 126 and 130, making the solution more difficult.

TOMBSTONES.—Wm. N. Miller, Marble dealer, opposite the Court-House, in Gettysburg, has on hand a fine stock of Tombstones of various styles and all sizes, to which he wishes to call the attention of persons needing anything in his line. How sad a sight is the neglected grave of a friend, when Miller offers to improve it at such low prices. mar.10,—3t

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

FOR THE RENOVATION OF THE HAIR.

The Great Desideratum of the Age.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a [illegible] nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

HAIR DRESSING,

CARBOLIC TABLETS.

PREPARED BY DR. WELL'S.

The most important discovery of the age is this wonderful Healing and Cleansing agent for the [illegible] weakness of the Respiratory organs, Sore Throat, Sudden Cold, Hoarseness, Catarrh, Asthma, Dryness of the Throat or Windpipe, diseases of the Lungs and for all irritation of the mucous membrane.

All vocalists and public speakers who speak and sing without effort, use these Tablets, their effect in clearing the voice is simply astonishing as can be shown by numerous certificates.

DR. WELLS' CARBOLIC TABLETS

act directly on the mucous membrane and should be promptly and freely taken in all exposure or violent change of weather, as they equalize the circulation of the blood and thus ward off all tendency to colds and Lung difficulty.

The proprietors would say, all first class medicines have their imitations, and they would CAUTION the public against imposition by having other medicines thrust upon them in place of these admirable Tablets.

BUCKWHEAT CAKES.

I love to see in summer time
The farmer plow the land
And broadcast o'er the furrow sow,
The buckwheat with his hand.

I love to see the little germ
Come springing up to view;
And see at morn the growing plant
Besprent with sparkling dew.

I love to see the blossoms ope,
As white as pearly snow,
While o'er the fields the gentle winds,
With Indian perfume blow.

I love to see the blooming field
Put on its coat of brown;
And see the [illegible]
With ripened grain hang down.

I love to see in even swath,
The cradled buckwheat lie;
And help to rake and rear the sheaves
And set them up to dry.

I love to see the loaded sheaves
Before the old barn door,
And hear the sounding flail
Upon the threshing floor.

I love to see the fanning mi
Blow off the dusty chaff;
And see them measure up the grain,
And "strike" the bushel half.

I love to see the water wheel,
Revolve with mighty power,
Which sets the mill stone whirling round
To grind the buckwheat flour.

I love to hear the thumping bolt
Within the noisy mill,
And see the miller scoop the flour
The farmer's bags to fill.

I love to see the busy cook
Her pancake butter make,
And on the heated griddle pour
The limpid flowing cake.

I love to see the half done cake,
With skill turned upside down,
Until the stove with steady heat,
Has baked the pancake brown.

The buttered cake upon my plate
I dearly love to see,
And when with honey sweetened well
It looks more temptingly.

Then all the pleasures I have named
A greater one I take—
'Tis at the table, when I sit
And eat the Buckwheat Cake.

HOW TO FATTEN HORSES.

Many good horses devour large quantities of grain and hay, and still continue thin and poor—the food eaten is not properly assimilated. If the usual feed has been unground grain and hay, nothing but a change will effect any desirable alteration in the appearance of the animal. In case oil meal cannot be obtained readily, mingle a bushel of flaxseed with a bushel of barley, one of oats and another of Indian corn, and let it be ground into a fine meal. This will be a fair proportion for all feed. Or the meal of the barley, oats, and corn in equal quantities, may first be procured, and one-fourth part of oil cake mingled up with it when the meal is sprinkled on cut feed.

Feed two or three quarts of the mixture two or three times a daily, mingled with a peck of cut hay and straw. If the horse will eat that greedily, let the quantity be gradually increased, until he will eat four or six quarts at every feeding, three times a day. But avoid the practice of allowing the horse to stand at a rack well-filled with hay. In order to fatten a horse that has run down in flesh, the groom should be very particular to feed the animal no more than he will eat up clean, and then lick his manger for more.

To Farmers.—Of all the dreary places, deliver us from the dreary farm houses, which so many people call home. Bars for a front gate; chickens wallowing before the door; pig pens elbowing the house in the rear; scraggy trees never cared for, or no trees at all; no cheering shrubs; no neatness; no trimness. And yet, a lawn, and trees, and a neat walk, and a pleasant fence around it, don't cost a great deal. They can be secured little by little, at odd times, and the expenses hardly felt. And if the time comes when it is best to sell the farm, fifty dollars so invested, will often bring back five hundred. For a man is a brute, who will not insensibly yield to a higher price for such a farm, when he thinks of the pleasent surroundings it offers to his wife and children. Farmers, beautify and adorn your farms; set out orchards, shrubbery, shade trees, lay off lawns: build good fences; put up good gates, and paint, or whitewash your outhouses and fences.

Rolling Grain in the Spring.—If farmers would look at the theory of rolling the wheat and rye field in the Spring, it would be restored, to much more frequent than it is. Occasionally the Winter and Spring have been so favorable to these crops as not to render it necessary. But in three seasons out of four it is necessary, and doubtless adds considerably to their productiveness. The thawing, and freezing of the ground, throwing or spewing out the roots and exposing them to the drying winds of February and March, very seriously affect the grain. Passing a roller over as soon as the soil is fit to enter upon, presses back the roots into their beds, and gives them a fair grip again upon the support on which the crop must depend. This must be apparent to every one who will look at its operation. We have no doubt that rolling clover fields that have been badly thrown up by the frost, would also have a beneficial effect.—Germantown Telegraph.

Small Farm.—Be content with a small place entirely paid for, if you have not the money to buy [illegible]. Do not allow that eager and avaricious spirit to "own all the land that joins yours" to ruin you. One of the curses of our agricultural district is the size of our farms. Forty acres paid for and tilled, is better, and far more remunerative than four hundred under heavy mortgage, and only half cultivated. Where one man may succeed by rashness in assuming large responsibilities, hundreds fail; and experience and observation will show that the succesful owners of large tracts of lands have usually begun by small purchases for cash, and by gradual addition as they acquired wealth by industry and economy.

How Plants Thrive Best.—Plants thrive better in double flower-pots than in single ones; that is, if the pot containing the plant is placed inside a larger one with earth between the two. The outer pot prevents the sun from striking with too great force on the inner one, and thus keeps the plant moist, and secures for its roots a more even temperature. Flower-pots containing plants may be kept in boxes, the interstices between the pots being filled with saw-dust. This arrangement is valuable in the heat of summer, for the box shades the pots from the rays of the sun and saw-dust retains moisture around the plants.

Grubs in Apple Trees.—A correspondent of the Western Rural, who has had a succession of ripe apples since July 1st, finds his worst enemy to his trees to be the grub at the root. His remedy is a half-inch gouge.

Bird Houses.—Prepare neat houses for martins, bluebirds, and wrens, to be put up about the house, fruit yard and farm. The occupants will pay good rent by destroying insects.

NEW 7-30 GOLD LOAN.
Safe! Profitable! Permanent!
JAY COOKE & CO.

Offer for Sale at Par and Accrued Interest the First Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds OF THE Northern Pacific Railroad Co.

THESE bonds are secured, first, by a First Mortgage on the Railroad itself, its rolling-stock, and all equipments; second, by a First Mortgage on its entire Land Grant, being more than Twenty-Two Thousand Acres of Land to each mile of Road.

The Bonds are free from United States Tax; the Principal and Interest are payable in Gold—the Principal at the end of Thirty years, and the Interest Semi-annually, at the rate of Seven and Three-tenths Per Cent. per annum.

They are issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000.

The Trustees under the Mortgage are Messrs. J. Cooke, of Philadelphia, and J. Edgar Thomson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company.

These Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds will at all times before maturity, be receivable at Ten Per Cent. Premium (or 1.10), in exchange for the Company's lands at their lowest cash price.

In addition to their absolute safety, these Bonds yield an income larger, we believe, than any other first-class security. Persons holding United States 5-20's can, by converting them into Northern Pacifics, increase their yearly income one-third, and still have a perfectly reliable investment.

HOW TO GET THEM.—Your nearest Bank or Banker will supply these Bonds in any desired amount, and of any needed denomination. Persons wishing to exchange stocks or other bonds for these, can do so with any of our Agents, who will allow the highest current price for all marketable securities.

Those living in localities remote from Banks, may send money, or other bonds, directly to us by express, and we will send back Northern Pacific Bonds at our own risk, and without cost to the investor. For further information, pamphlets, maps, etc., call on or address the undersigned, or any of the Banks or Bankers employed to sell this Loan.

Medical.

A Great Medical Discovery
DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR BITTERS.

Hundreds of thousands bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?
THEY ARE NOT A VILE
FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all the poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell, provided the bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

BILIOUS, REMITTENT and INTERMITTENT FEVERS, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great Rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others with their vast tributaries, during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during the seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. There are always more or less obstructions of the liver, a weakness and irritable state of the stomach, and great torpor of the bowels, being clogged up with vitiated accumulations. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S Vinegar Bitters, as they will speedily remove the dark colored viscid matter with which the Bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs. The universal popularity of this valuable remedy in regions subject to miasmatic influences, is sufficient evidence of its power as a remedy in such cases.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effect.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French and Spanish.

DR. SCHENCK
ADVISES CONSUMPTIVES TO GO TO FLORIDA IN WINTER.

Having for the last thirty-five years devoted my whole time and attention to the study of lung diseases and consumption, I feel that I understand fully the course that ought to be pursued to restore a tolerably bad case of diseased lungs to healthy soundness. The first and most important step is for the patient to avoid taking cold, and the best of all places on this continent for this purpose in winter, is Florida, well down in the State, where the temperature is regular, and not subject to such variations as in more Northern latitudes. Palatka is a point I can recommend. A good hotel is kept there by Peterman. Last winter I saw several persons there whose lungs had been badly diseased, but who, under the healing influence of the climate and my medicines, were getting well.

One hundred miles further down the river is a point which I would prefer to Palatka, as the temperature is more even and the air dry and bracing. Mellonville and Enterprise are located there. I should give a decided preference to Mellonville. It is two miles from river or lake, and it seems almost impossible to take cold there.—The tables in Florida might be better, and patients complain at times but that is a good sign, as it indicates a return of appetite, and when this is the case they generally increase in flesh, and the lungs must heal.

Jacksonville, Hibernia, Green Cove, and many other places in various parts of Florida, can be safely recommended to consumptives in winter. My reasons for saying so are that patients are less liable to take cold there than here, there is a less even temperature, and it is not necessary to say that where a consumptive person exposes himself to frequent colds he is certain to die shortly. Therefore my advice is, go well down into the State out of the reach of prevailing east winds and fogs. Jacksonville, or almost any other of the localities I have named, will benefit those who are troubled with a torpid liver, a disordered stomach, deranged bowels, sore throat or cough, but for those whose lungs are diseased a more southern point is earnestly recommended.

For fifteen years prior to 1869, I was professionally in New York, Boston, Baltimore and Philadelphia every week, where I saw and examined on an average five hundred patients a week. A practice so extensive, embracing every possible phase of lung disease, has enabled me to understand the disease fully, and hence, my caution in regard to taking cold. A person may take vast quantities of "Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills," and yet die if he does not avoid taking cold.

In Florida, nearly everybody is using Schenck's Mandrake Pills, for the climate is more likely to produce bilious habits than more northern latitudes. It is a well established fact that natives of Florida rarely die of consumption, especially those of the southern part. On the other hand, in New England, one-third, at least, of the population die of this terrible disease. In the Middle States it does not prevail so largely, still there are many thousands of cases there. What a vast percentage of life would be saved if consumptives were as easily alarmed in regard to taking fresh colds as they are about scarlet fever, small pox, &c. But they are not. They take what they term a little cold, which they are credulous enough to believe will wear off in a few days.—They pay no attention to it, and hence it lays the foundation for another and another still, until the lungs are diseased beyond all hope for cure.

My advice to persons whose lungs are affected even slightly is, to lay a stock of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Seaweed Tonic and Schenck's Mandrake Pills and go to Florida. I recommend these particular medicines because I am thoroughly acquainted with their action. I know that where they are used in strict accordance with my directions they will do the work that is required. This accomplished, nature will do the rest. The physician who prescribes for cold, cough or night-sweats, and then advises the patient to walk or ride out every day, will be sure to have a corpse on his hands before long.

My plan is to give my three medicines, in accordance with the printed directions, except in some cases where a freer use of the Mandrake Pills is necessary. My object is to give tone to the stomach—to get up a good appetite. It is always a good sign when a patient begins to grow hungry. I have hopes of such. With a relish for food and the gratification of that relish comes good blood, and with it more flesh, which is closely followed by a healing of the lungs. Then the cough loosens and abates, the creeping chills and clammy night-sweats no longer prostrate and annoy, and the patient gets well, provided he avoids taking cold.

Now there are many consumptives who have not the means to go to Florida. The question may be asked, is there no hope for such? Certainly there is. My advice to such is, and ever has been, to stay in a warm room during the winter, with a temperature of about seventy degrees, which should be kept regularly at that point, by means of a thermometer. Let such a patient take his exercise within the limits of the room by walking up and down as much as his strength will permit, in order to keep up a healthy circulation of the blood. I have cured thousands by this system, and can do so again. Consumption is as easily cured as any other disease if it is taken in time, and the proper kind of treatment is pursued. The fact stands undisputed on record that Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Mandrake Pills, and Seaweed Tonic have cured very many of what seemed to be hopeless cases of consumption. Go where you will, you will be almost certain to find some poor consumptive who has been rescued from the very jaws of death by their use.

So far as the Mandrake Pills are concerned, everybody should keep a supply of them on hand. They act on the liver better than calomel, and leave none of its hurtful effects behind. In fact they are excellent in all cases where a purgative medicine is required. If you have partaken too freely of fruit and diarrhœa ensues, a dose of the Mandrakes will cure you. If you are subject to sick headache, take a dose of the Mandrakes and they will relieve you in two hours. If you would obviate the effect of a change of water, or the too free indulgence in fruit, take one of the Mandrakes every night or every other night, and you may then drink water and eat watermelons, pears, apples, plums, peaches or corn, without the risk of being made sick by them. They will protect those who live in damp situations against chills and fevers. Try them. They are perfectly harmless. They can do you good only.

I have abandoned my professional visits to Boston and New York, but continue to see patients at my office, No. 15 N. Sixth Street, Philadelphia, every Saturday, from 9 A. M., to 3 P. M. Those who wish a thorough examination with the Respirometer will be charged five dollars. The Respirometer declares the exact condition of the lungs, and patients can readily learn whether they are curable or not. But I desire it distinctly understood that the value of my medicines depends entirely upon their being taken strictly according to directions.

In conclusion, I will say that when persons take my medicines and their systems are brought into a healthy condition thereby, they are not so liable to take cold, yet no one with diseased lungs can bear a sudden change of atmosphere without the liability of greater or less irritation of the bronchial tubes.

Full directions in all languages accompany my medicines, so explicit and clear that any one can use them without consulting me, and can be bought from any druggist.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF HEALTH! HEALTH!!

MILLER'S DYSPEPSIN
AND
LIVER INVIGORATOR,

Is a Sure Cure for Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Bilious Complaints, Sick Headache, Costiveness, and all irregularities of the Stomach, Bowels and Kidneys.

DYSPEPSIN

Is the great discovery of the age; as it is a purely VEGETABLE PREPARATION containing all the MEDICAL PROPERTIES OF ROOTS, HERBS and BARKS in a concentrated form and free from all irritating vegetable matter.

1st. It is a TONIC, giving an appetite and producing a healthy condition of the stomach.

2nd. It is an APERIENT or GENTLE LAXATIVE, and does not produce any griping or pain in its action on the bowels, and leaves them in a healthy condition.

3rd. It is a DIURETIC and operates like a charm on the Kidneys, therefore it is one of the best Medicines in the World for diseases of these organs.

4th. It is probably one of the best CHOLAGOGUES known, as it stimulates the Liver to a healthy action, carries off the bile and thereby relieves you of Headache and all bilious symptoms.

5th. It is the most excellent ANTIPHLOGISTIC ever known, and therefore its great powers over all other Medicines in curing dyspepsia.—Persons troubled with dyspepsia always have more or less inflammation of the stomach, therefore its great success is owing to its power of allaying inflammation. It makes no difference how weak, irritable, delicate or tender the stomach may be, THE DYSPEPSIN will give relief at once, and by continuing only a reasonable length of time it will make a certain cure.

Full directions on each bottle. $1.00 per bottle or $5.00 for six bottles.
